Ok... what you need to know about is a site a mate gave me. It is for a site called boozle.com.au this site is a like google but for grog.... I know how cool is that? All you do is select your state, then the brand of drink your after. You can also click on the tabs for beers, spirits or pre mixed cans. Then all you do is scroll down through the drinks, which also display the shops from your local area along with if the item is on special or not. Great hey? Check it out...
